Your Role & Responsibility

Think back to the most memorable event you've ever attended. Was it a wedding? A company meeting? A dinner party? Whatever it was, what was the one thing you remember the most? The food? The service? The décor? The atmosphere? At Puff 'n Stuff Catering, incredible food and seamless service are two things that we promise that our clients and their guests will remember most from their event. As the Event Supervisor, you have an incredible responsibility to lead service teams that will uphold that promise and far surpass their expectations!

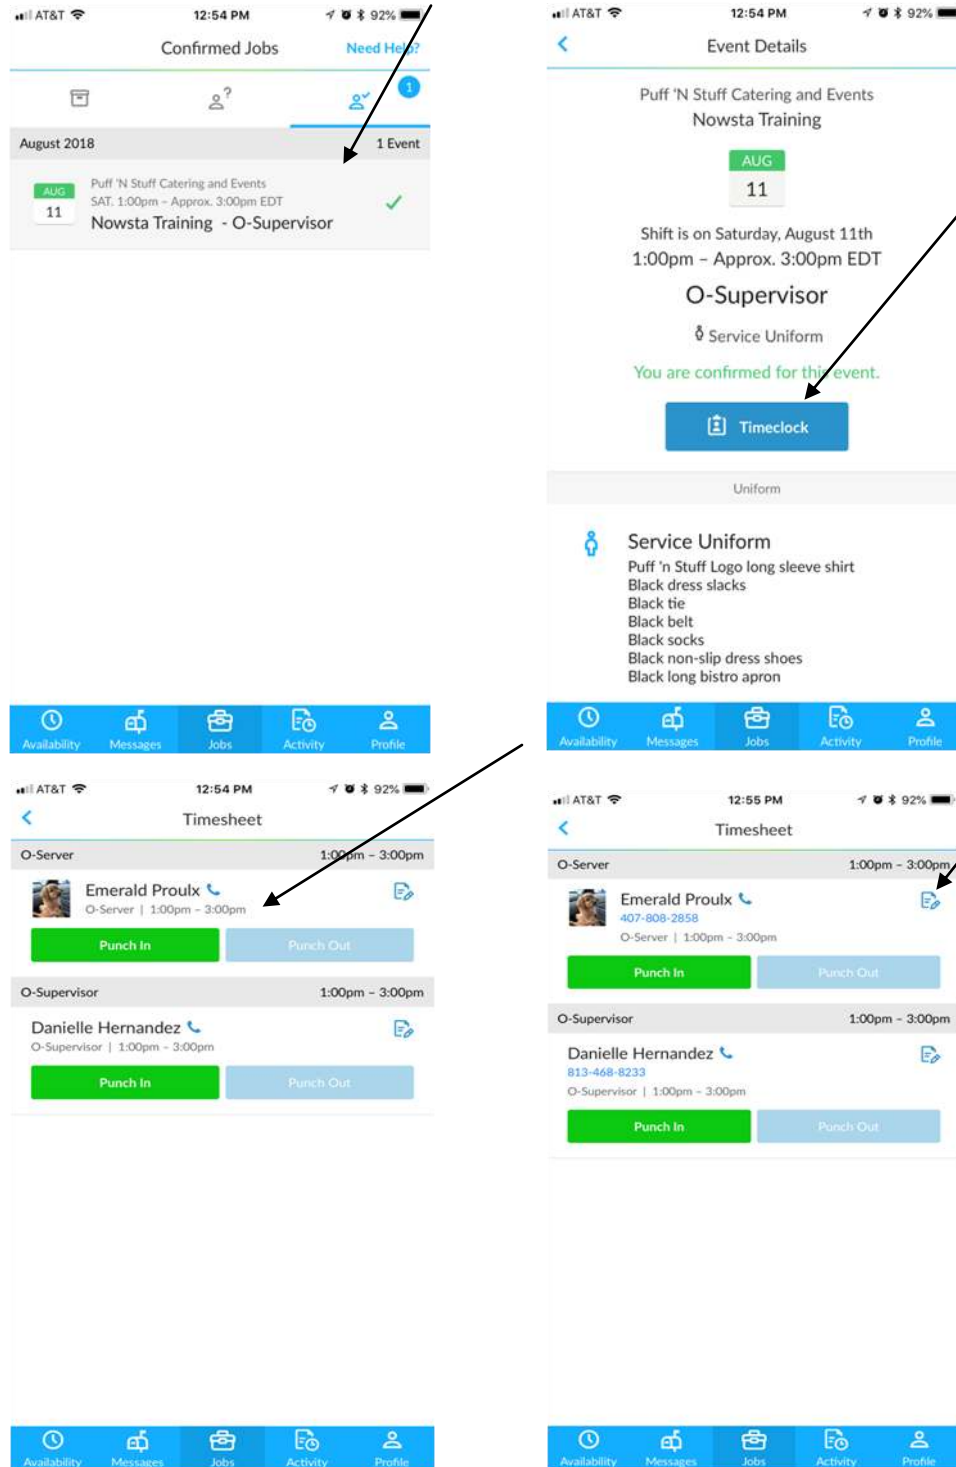

Puff 'n Stuff Catering Event Supervisors provide direction and execute off-premise catered events in accordance to the Special Event Order (SEO). Supervisors are responsible for monitoring staff performance, making recommendations on personnel actions and procedures, and determining most efficient utilization of personnel and on site equipment. We rely on your experience and sound judgment to plan and execute events goals, by leading and directing your team members work while onsite.

Tools And Resources

Nowsta

- The Nowsta app is to be used for time and attendance by all team members on shift. As an Event Supervisor, you will have administrative access to review staff for your upcoming events, manage the timekeeping for your staff at an event, and also provide feedback through a 5 star rating system in the app.
- If a team member needs assistance with editing their start or end time for their event, it is your responsibility to assist them with correcting the missed punch. Please alert your Service Managers if you have any challenges adjusting anyone's hours worked.
- Your feedback about your team members in Nowsta is critical to the scheduling process! Please evaluate your team members objectively based on their punctuality, attitude, adherence to uniform and grooming policies, as well as their ability to perform assigned tasks thoroughly and efficiently.

Editing Time And Attendance In Nowsta

Puff ‘n Stuff Catering Phone List

- You will be provided with a comprehensive contact list for all Sales and Operations Management for both Tampa and Orlando Puff ‘n Stuff locations.
- The contact list contains office and cell phone numbers in addition to email addresses for each of the Special Event Planners, Warehouse Managers, Service Managers, as well as Human Resources and the Director of Operations.
- Questions, concerns, or issues should be directed to the respective department manager first. If you cannot reach that individual, please contact your direct manager(s) next.

Station Set Up Guides

- Station guides are (1) page visual, instructional aides that provide essential information for the equipment needed, set up, and execution of various beverage, service, and Chef Attended Action Stations.
- Station guides can be easily given to a team member to review, build, and service a station independently. This will allow you to provide your team with detailed information, while they self-train themselves. Instruct the team member to check in with you upon completion of the task for feedback and adjustments to the station that they have set.

Managing Your Event Team

Managing a team of any size can have it challenges. As off-premise caterers, anticipating, planning for, and reacting to challenges is what we thrive on! It takes a uniquely talented and creative event professional to lead and motivate service teams to execute events in places where events are typically not meant to take place! So whether you are producing a black tie wedding in the middle of a rural farm or an art gallery showcase in an empty warehouse, always encourage and engage your teams to have fun and smile!

Staff Expectations

- Team members must remain focused on their assigned tasks and responsibilities throughout the event.
- As a service leader for the Puff ‘n Stuff Catering service team, you have a special responsibility to create a positive first impression for our clients and their guests

Uniforms and Grooming

- It lies within your responsibility to address any team member's uniform or grooming issues during a shift.
- Please alert your manager of any team members who are out of uniform, and/or wearing stained/wrinkled/ill-fitting items that must be addressed before the event starts. If it is a simple adjustment that the team member can make on-site, instruct them to correct the uniform violation before continuing on with their assigned tasks. For example, a non-uniform standard facial piercing or incorrect hat for a road chef can easily be removed.
- If the uniform violation is extreme enough, the team member will not be allowed to work the shift or will be required to clock out of the shift to change into the proper uniform. The team member may be sent home and will receive a write up (I.E. brightly colored hair or improper shoes for service).
- Please document the uniform issue in your Event Supervisor Report.

Staff Breaks

- Breaks should only be allowed at the Event Supervisor's discretion. Breaks should not occur at the start of service nor during the peak of service.
- Rotate team members paired together as partners so that (1) team member remains on the service floor at all times and available to the guests in their section.

Eating Onsite

- Each employee is encouraged to have eaten prior to reporting for their scheduled shift and has the option to bring a simple snack or meal that can be consumed quickly.
- Team members are not permitted to eat food other than the provided staff meal or eat at times other than their meal break unless authorized by their Event Supervisor. These appropriate times are solely at your discretion.
- Staff meals are provided by Puff 'n Stuff for any team members who work a shift that is 8 or more hours long. Plan breaks for staff meal based on the timeline for set up and service. Sometimes, it may be ideal to allow the staff a break to eat prior to service beginning. It is ideal to feed your teams before or during your pre-shift meeting.
- "Grazing" by staff in the kitchen, during tray pass, or from a buffet or station is never tolerated under any circumstance. It is never permitted that any service staff member is to eat food that is being butler passed during an event.

- No food may be taken home from an event by any team member. All food produced for an event is property of the client and/or Puff 'n Stuff Catering. If properly held within the correct temperature zones, leftover food from an event may be boxed up for the client or returned to PnS. Remaining food items the client declines to keep must be disposed of.

NOTE: Event Supervisor and Chef sampling for seasoning and quality is encouraged (SAMPLING!) and part of your responsibility as the Manager On Duty at the event.

Time Management And Delegation

- Your role as the Event Supervisor is to provide day to day training and performance feedback.
- Events that are larger in size and staffing and events with intricate detail and complexity will require you to be less hands on in the physical set up and service of the event. You must communicate clearly about the task(s) and timeframes assigned to each team member or task team leader and check in often with your staff. Focus on the big picture and be able to step back and assess the progress.
- Events that are smaller in size and staffing may require you to work side by side with your team members to complete the set up, service, and breakdown.

Difficult Situations

At some point, we have all come across challenging situations. The following guidelines will help you handle or guide your team members to handle such situations or avoid them all together. Your positive attitude, motivation, persistence, pride, and team work will all play an important part in how you solve any guest-related issue that may arise. Just remember that there is a solution to every situation if you take the right approach!

- If you can solve it, do it! Bring your Special Event Planner, Service Manager, Warehouse Manager, or Director of Operations into the situation if you cannot solve the issue independently. An MOD is always available by phone to help you resolve or prevent any issues with your client and Puff 'n Stuff Catering.

Listening To And Understanding Your Client or Guest

- Read your guests and pay attention to what their body language may be telling you.
- Never say NO, challenge, or argue with a client or guest. The guest may not always be right, but the guest is always to be treated with respect and understanding. If you are unsure of an answer to a question that a guest or client has posed, inform them that you will find out right away or speak with your manager or chef. Return to the guest or client immediately after receiving an answer to inform them and further help them with their situation.

- By being observant and studying your guests’ and client’s body language closely, you will be able to recognize their needs.
- Always keep in mind that every guest and every client is different and wants different experiences from the event they are attending or hosting.

“No Complaint Walk”

No client or guest should never leave an event with an unanswered complaint. A professional response to a complaint may be more memorable than an issue-free experience. We pride ourselves on being service oriented. Every complaint or dissatisfaction is our concern. On the rare occasion that a guest has a complaint or problem, please follow these guidelines:

- Listen: Really listen and do not interrupt. Sometimes all it takes is for the guest to be heard. Look the guest in the eye, and nod reassuringly. You need to hear what the guest has to say, so you can accurately communicate the issue to your superior.
- Apologize: Apologizing should never be about taking the blame, or who is right and who is wrong. You don’t need to make any excuses or offer any unnecessary explanation. By apologizing you’re simply acknowledging that you’re sorry that the guest is disappointed. Simply state “I’m sorry this happened”.
- Remove or solve the problem: If the issue is food or beverage related, remove the item immediately and take the necessary steps to fix or replace it. Never correct a guest on the floor. Remember, it’s their opinion and not to be taken personally. If it is something else, make every reasonable effort to resolve the issue, but if it means compromising the service to other guests, please let guest know as soon as I finish doing x(serving dinner), I will gladly do y (get you more wine). Use your best judgment, and always be polite.
- Notify your management team and the Special Event Planner of any issue that occurred during your event. No matter how big or small the problem; it’s your responsibility as the Event Supervisor to ALWAYS relay any challenges that occurred during your shift to the Special Event Planner and Operations Managers.
- If you have any uncertainty about how to manage a problem or situation on your event, please check in with your Service Managers and/or SEP. Your leaders can often support you with creative resolutions to the guest’s complaint or can even step in to the conversation if the complaint or issue requires immediate action and attention.

In Case Of Emergency

Report all accidents to a manager immediately. The management team and human resource manager must be notified within 24 hours of any occurrence of an accident.

Team Member Injuries On The Job

- If the employee has a life-threatening injury, call 911 immediately. Do not delay treatment to complete worker's compensation paperwork before sending them.
- If you feel the injury sustained is severe, send employee for treatment immediately. Do not delay treatment to complete worker's compensation paperwork before sending them.
- If the team member has sustained a superficial injury, ask them if they would like to seek medical treatment.
- Worker's compensation paperwork is available in each of the event vehicles. Completed paperwork for an injured employee must be turned into Service Coordinator/Manager or Human Resources immediately following the incident or the next following day.
- Notify your Service Coordinator or Manager immediately if an injury occurs and properly document the incident details in the Event Supervisor Report. How/What/Where/When/Why.

Guest Injuries On An Event

- If a guest has a life-threatening injury, call 911 immediately. Do not attempt to move the injured person. Await professional medical assistance to perform any treatment.
- If the guest has sustained a superficial injury, ask them if they would like to seek medical treatment.
- Notify the Special Event Planner and Operations Manager immediately if an injury occurs (especially if on property at one of Puff 'n Stuff Catering's exclusive venues) and properly document the incident details in the Event Supervisor Report AND on the separate Incident Report. This form is located in the Vehicle Forms Binder. How/What/Where/When/Why.

Intoxicated Guest

- Address the closest point of contact for the intoxicated guest (friend, spouse) and communicate your recommendation that i.e. they be brought outside for fresh air, a discussion, leave the premises, call an ambulance, etc.

- If the guest has surpassed the point of intoxication and demonstrates signs of alcohol poisoning, call 911 immediately for assistance.
- Symptoms of alcohol poisoning include: confusion, seizures, nausea and vomiting, abnormal breathing patterns, low body temp, and changes to skin tone.
- Interview the bartenders on the event, identify who and how many drinks the team member served the intoxicated guest, and in what time frame. Document this important information in your Event Supervisor Report AND on the separate Incident Report. How/What/Where/When/Why.

Intoxicated Employee

- Puff 'n Stuff Catering has a zero-tolerance drug and alcohol policy while working.
- Puff 'n Stuff reserves the right to require drug testing of employees if there is a reasonable suspicion that an employee is under the influence of alcohol or any illegal substance.
- If you suspect that a team member is under the influence of alcohol or drugs while working, immediately notify your Service Managers for additional support to address the individual in question.

Zero Tolerance Drug and Alcohol Policy

Working under the influence of alcohol, illegal drugs, or misused controlled substances is strictly forbidden. Puff 'n Stuff Catering also prohibits the use or abuse of prescription medication that may impair a team member's ability to safely and efficiently perform your assigned job. Any person who violates this policy will be subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination.

SAFETY TIP → MEDICINE

We should never administer or offer any over the counter (OTC) or unauthorized prescription medicine to a guest including aspirin or Tylenol. Even if the guest requests.

Pre-Event Responsibilities

Incredible events always begin with attention to detail and great preparation. The Special Event Order will be your go to resource for each event that you work. Develop a detailed timeline for set up assignments, service, and execution of breakdown.

Event Information

Production Meetings

Each week the Operations leadership team meets with the Special Event Planners to discuss successes and challenges from the previous week's events and review the details of the upcoming week's events. The information collected during the production meeting will be communicated to you via the SEO and through direct communication with your managers via email, phone call, or face to face during your load out from PnS for the event.

Final SEO Distribution

- You will receive the final copy of the SEO and finalized supporting documents from your Service Manager via email 48 hours before your event.
- You will also receive any pertinent event documents to include: floor plans, planner timelines, and seating/meal charts if they are available at that time.
- You will also receive any important notes about your event that were discussed during production.

Pre-Event

Understanding And Reviewing The SEO

The Special Event Order (SEO) is the event contract between the client and Puff 'n Stuff Catering that outlines the food and beverage menu, staffing, equipment, and timeline details of a catered event.

For the service team, the SEO is our most vital resource. Every detail of the contract is written specifically for a reason.

NOTE: Never deviate away from any special instructions or service notes listed in the contract without permission or notification to the Special Event Planner, Operations Manager, Executive Chef, client, or point of contact.

Reviewing The Roll Call Report

- Final staffing for your event is available to review on the Nowsta app. Understand that
- Compare the number of confirmed staff to the number of staff itemized on the Special Event Order. Cross check the call times listed on the Roll Call Report against the Staff Arrival Onsite time listed on the Special Event Order. Notify the scheduling manager immediately if there are any discrepancies.
- Please review your team members' specific start and end times. Your scheduling manager may stagger staff in later than the main team or recommend that you release certain staff early from the shift. Please follow any schedule adjustments per their instruction.

Meeting With The Special Event Planner

- Always make the effort to communicate with the Special Event Planner prior to event day.
- At minimum, an email or phone call discussion about the details of the event must take place between you and the SEP/SEC before the event occurs. Reference the Puff 'n Stuff Catering Contact List for SEP email, phone line, and cell phone information.

*Please note that the phone number listed in the top right corner of the SEO under the SEP's name is their office line. It is recommended that you have call their cell phone number on the contact list after regular business hours or on weekends in

EFFICIENCY TIP → MOVE WITH A PURPOSE

Understand and analyze the space you are passing in. Identify where the guest entrance(s) are, the service door, and any main focal points or displays in the area that guests will gravitate toward. When passing food or beverage, look for new guest arrivals and approach them with a warm smile! Never wander aimlessly.

Pre-Departure From PnS

The event day is here! Now that you've outlined a solid plan for execution, it's time to prepare the final items at the commissary and make your way to the event site. Take this time at the commissary seriously, as it is your final opportunity to communicate with the Special Event Planner and finalize your timeline for service execution with your Lead Event Chef.

After clocking in, you and your Lead Event Chef will have approximately (1) hour to pull and load your specialty beverages, beverages, food, and service ware onto the event vehicle.

Reviewing The SEO And Pack Sheet

- Check white board in warehouse for the vehicle number. If you do not see your vehicle number posted, ask a Warehouse Manager or a warehouse team member for assistance in locating where your vehicle is parked.
- Confirm the SEO in your pack sheet is the most updated copy. The database of record is the chef's copy hanging on their boards. Crosscheck pack sheet with SEO.
- Review and check event vehicle for equipment with Warehouse Manager, Logistics Manager or MOD.
- Review pack sheet, look for items not highlighted (this means they have not been loaded) and any items on the "culinary needs list" that have not been checked off or highlighted. Communicate with the Warehouse or Logistics Manager on this.
- Cross check with the SEO that you have all the proper platters, utensils, bowls, tables, under liners, etc. and make sure that they are secure in the truck.

Communicating With Your Lead Event Chef

- Meet with your Lead Event Chef upon arrival to the Puff 'n Stuff commissary and review the SEO as a team. As the Event Supervisor, you may have additional information from the Special Event Planner that could affect how the Lead plans for the meal service execution.
- Cross check the last revision date of the SEO posted to your event's individual speed racks with the copy attached to the warehouse pack sheet.
- It is especially important to review timeline details, special meal notes, packing needs, and discuss venue specifics if the event location is unfamiliar to either of you.
- Make additional copies of the SEO and road report for the Road Chefs. You want your team to have as much information about the event available to them as possible!
- Read all notes on kitchen SEO and discuss with expediting chef if questions arise.
- Communicate with your Lead Event Chef! As needed, assist in cross checking all food on speed rack with SEO to make sure all items have been produced and put on your tram. Double check for sauces, crackers, dry goods (bread, rolls, crostini, desserts).
- Confirm with the Lead Event Chef that they have gathered the proper platters for butler pass, crackers, bowls for crostini, small bowls for sauces.
- Validate that your Lead has a safety plan in mind for keeping food cold and hot.
- Verify that the Lead pulls ice trays to keep temperature sensitive items cold during transport to venue (i.e. cheese, chocolate, proteins, and sauces like aoli).
- Pull cream from kitchen walk in cooler or confirm Lead Event Chef has done so. (Review SEO for special dietary requests and request specialty milks from Expo Chef as ordered on contract).

Road Reports

- Road reports for your event will be attached to your SEO and pack sheet.

- Road reports are menu documents that identify any special notes on the SEO and highlight each menu item, the ingredients, preparation and cooking method/times, and photos of the item.

Checking Off Food

- If you are the Supervisor-Culinary of an event, refer to the Lead Culinary checklist in addition to your supervisor responsibilities.
- Double check with your Lead Event Chef to ensure that all items on menu have been accounted for, quantities verified, and mise-en-place pulled and loaded.
- Keep time on your side. Work with Lead Event Chef to load cooled vehicle with food 10 minutes prior to departure time. Double check to make sure trams have been securely locked into place with ratchet straps.

Pre-Event Departure

- Cool down event vehicle prior to the departure time by turning on the refrigeration unit (if vehicle has one) upon arrival to the warehouse.
- Verify that the truck has all of the items on the pack list and make a list of any items that are missing.
- DOUBLE check departure checklist for “essential” items to include plates, glassware, silverware, serving utensils, chafers, linen, and wrap.
- Finish loading the vehicle and leave on time from the warehouse.

Service Responsibilities

Bar Fruit

- If your event has a bar, you will need to cut the bar fruit for your bartenders before departure. Limes are the primary bar fruit garnish of choice. You will not need many cherries or olives unless the bar menu calls for a specialty drink or SEP indicates that guests are heavy martini drinkers (olives).

Beer and Wine

Lemons, Limes

Full Bar

Lemons, Limes, Olives, Cherries

- Verify any specialty fruit or drink garnish needs (Oranges, sangria, candied fruit, etc.)

Beverages

- Brew or secure coffee supplies and iced tea.
- Mark the regular or decaf cambro with tape or a label so that you know which is which and can communicate it to your team members.
- Estimate 1 quart container of half and half per 50 guests for a standard coffee station set up (note: check for special diets, Soy and Almond Milk usually available).
- Early morning events will require more regular coffee and more cream. Estimate that your guests will drink a minimum of 2 cups per person.
- Verify coffee grinds for the drip bowls for your coffee urns are pulled. It is your responsibility to load the coffee grinds along with the rest of the coffee station equipment unless instructed otherwise.
- Verify with Lead Event Chef that specialty beverages have been produced from the kitchen and will be labeled in the walk-in cooler with your event number. These beverages can include orange juice, lemonade, fruit punch, and more!

5 Gallon Water Jugs and Pre-Set Water

- You will need to chill your 5-gallon water jugs for pre-set waters prior to your departure from PnS if you are working in an off-site location that does not have refrigeration onsite.
- We do not put ice in our pre-set waters. Only chilled water initially. We do, however, refill our water glasses with ice and water when replenishing tableside.

Ice

- Full liquor bars will require more ice (for cocktails) vs. beer and wine bars.
- Our pre-set waters are chilled We do not put ice in our pre-set waters but you will need to bring ice to refill the glasses.

Station Décor

- If décor was not pulled specifically for your event by the SEP or Service Managers, then you need to gather items for décor and elevation and load it onto the event vehicle.
- If décor items were not specified on SEO, pull décor based on event details (color palette, event theme, station set up) and load it onto event vehicle.

Service Ware

Pull any platters, under liners for flatware and serving utensils needed for buffet or stations.

Wrap

- Make sure to grab a roll of plastic wrap from the warehouse if your event is loaded in a sprinter or truck so that you can wrap your speed racks and carts for safe transport when you load out at the end of the event. Wrap is located in the warehouse by the loading bay doors.
- Make sure you have your menu cards and metal menu card holders. Proof read the menus cards before departing.
- Double check to make sure you have an Employee Roll Call sheet. Communicate with your Service Managers if you do not.

Vehicle Transport

Puff 'n Stuff Catering owns a fleet of 30 event vehicles including cargo vans, sprinters, 15' and 24' box trucks in order to load parties of all sizes! Your responsibility as the Event Supervisor (if approved to operate the vehicle under our insurance company) is to transport the event equipment in a company vehicle to and from the commissary. Hands on training to get behind the wheel of a van/ sprinter/ truck will also be provided to ensure that you are equipped with the proper knowledge and skill to safely operate one of our vehicles!

You and your team members are always ambassadors of Puff 'n Stuff Catering, even when on the road to your event. The behavior of the driver behind the wheel, the manner in which the vehicle is driven, and even how the vehicle is parked onsite is a direct reflection of our company and should represent us well!

Rules Of The Road

- No one without a valid current driver's license, issued by a recognized authority within the United States, is permitted to operate a vehicle for Puff 'n Stuff Catering. A copy of this license must be on file in the personnel office. You must have your driver's license with you in order to operate the vehicle at any time.
- You must be cleared by our designated insurance company to be covered under the corporate vehicle insurance policy.
- Should any incidents occur which cause your license to be suspended or revoked, said actions should be reported and all driving privileges rescinded until further approval is given.
- Please reference all traffic laws.

Vehicle Operation
Retrieve vehicle keys from warehouse board.
If vehicle has a refrigeration unit, cool the vehicle down upon arrival to the warehouse.
Start event vehicle and check gas level before departure.
Review any special notes for directions, gate codes, etc on SEO.
Account for any traffic or construction delays that might slow you down.
Adhere to PnS driving procedures while operating event vehicle.
AS NEEDED-Notify Service Managers if you will not be able to arrive at event venue on time.
Identify proper load in space upon arrival to venue.

Smoking

- No team member, under any circumstance, is permitted to smoke in a Puff 'n Stuff Catering company vehicle to include: trucks, sprinters, cargo vans, and passenger vans.
- Smoking inside or near any company vehicle will lead to disciplinary action up to and including termination. This includes cigarettes, e-cigarettes, smokeless tobacco, or vaporizers.
- Operating a motor vehicle of any type while under the influence of alcohol or drugs is prohibited. This applies to driving on public roadways as well as moving a truck or car within a parking lot or a driveway of any kind.

Speed Limits and Traffic Violations

- Posted speed limits and other traffic directional signs will be obeyed under all circumstances.
- Tickets incurred for traffic infractions will be the responsibility of the driver, unless the ticket pertains directly to faulty vehicle equipment. Please report any faulty vehicle equipment on ESR , such as turn signals or brake lights that are not working properly, etc. If you realize before you leave the commissary, notify the Warehouse Manager for a solution.
- The vehicle is considered your responsibility while entrusted to you and no unauthorized drivers are allowed possession of keys to the vehicle's ignition.
- No unauthorized passengers are permitted in the vehicles, and all approved passengers should be properly secured by seatbelts as required by Florida law.

Accidents

- Report any accidents involving company vehicles, regardless of severity, immediately to the Service & Training Manager and/or Warehouse Manager. You must report all incidents immediately after the incident occurs.
- Report and document damage to a PnS vehicle and/or any other vehicles in the Event Supervisor Report with supporting photos.
- An incident report must be completed for any damage sustained to a company vehicle or property damaged by a company vehicle.

Vehicle Emergencies

- In the event that a company vehicle experiences any mechanical issues (i.e. engine failure, dead battery, flat tire), first notify the Warehouse Manager and/or Service Managers to alert them to the situation.
- Each vehicle contains an information packet that houses the Puff 'n Stuff Catering vehicle registration, insurance card, as well as road side assistance and towing contact information. This contact information is located in a comprehensive vehicle binder placed in the cab of each vehicle.
- Do not leave or abandon the vehicle without explicit permission from the Warehouse or Service Manager.

Managing Event Set Up

Event set up time goes by in the blink of an eye! Regardless of the event or menu's level of simplicity or complexity, you must always act and lead with a strong sense of urgency. With an average 2 hour set before an event goes live, each minute counts toward a specific task or deadline that must be met in order to be set and ready for guest arrivals.

Timing is crucial! As a leader on site, you must understand the event set up, service, and breakdown timelines! You and your Lead Event Chef must be in sync at all times to ensure the delivery of each event component exceeds client and guest expectations. Plan ahead and watch the clock. Call for assistance as needed.

Client Communication

Upon arrival to your event site, identify the client or point of contact (POC). Introduce yourself and the Lead Event Chef as the main Puff 'n Stuff Catering representatives onsite to not only the client, but any other vendors involved in the event production process including: venue manager(s), event planner/coordinator, and other vendors. Discuss the floor plan, event timeline, and any final changes or special requests with the client, planner, and/or venue manager.

Walk The Site

- Reference the floor plan (if available) as you and the Lead Event Chef walk the event space prior to your team's arrival onsite.
- Identify back of house staging, breakdown, and kitchen space. The ideal BOH space is not visible to guests or can be shielded to remain discrete. BOH space should also have a clear path and access to the FOH and stations.

- Work with your Lead Event Chef to determine usable power outlets for cooking equipment and stations that require electricity (I.E. heat lamps for carving stations).
- Determine or review the spacing and layout of food and beverage stations, guest seating tables and chairs. Communicate with the onsite contact or client for any adjustments that should be made.
- At a private residence, you may need to recommend placement for stations, tables, and seating.

Clocking In Your Event Team

Team members must clock in on their smart phones Team members must personally check in with you before they are permitted to officially clock in.

1. Supervise the clock in of team members as they arrive for their shift.
2. Team members should be clocking in no more than 5 minutes before their scheduled shift time. These times should be accurate, to the minute, and not rounded down or up to whole numbers (I.E. 10:28AM instead of 10:30AM).
3. Ensure that arriving team members are dressed in their complete set up uniform and are properly groomed before starting their shift. Team members out of uniform or not up to standard must change before clocking in.
4. Notify the Service Managers or Manager on Duty (MOD) of any missing team members approximately (15) minutes after the official call time has passed. If you have more staff or different staff arrive than what is listed in the Nowsta app, address the issue immediately with the Service Managers. This might mean a team member is at the wrong location for the wrong event!

Vehicle Unload

- Identify the drop locations throughout the event space for equipment that will be offloaded from the event vehicle. This includes the placement of stations or buffets, kitchen areas, guest seating areas, bars and designate a breakdown area prior to unloading so that your staff will be knowledgeable and organized.
- Supervise the unloading of equipment inside the venue and ensure it goes to its proper location. All working equipment and supplies should be brought to its assigned area immediately.
- Once the vehicle is unloaded, make sure the Lead Event Chef or designated team member has relocated it to an appropriate location per venue or client request.

- Ensure that your event team is working safely and carefully to avoid any damage to the venue to include walls and flooring as tables and other items are being off-loaded into the space. Never drag equipment across the floor.
- Never rest or lean anything against a Puff 'n Stuff vehicle or other equipment that could become scratched, dented, or damaged in any manner. The photos wrapped on each vehicle are expensive and are a reflection of the Puff 'n Stuff brand. Leaning equipment against the vehicle can cause tears, rips, or scratches to the photo and the vehicle itself.
- Do not permit staff to rest any equipment on the client's furniture, walls, etc. nor set anything on furniture or tables that already has linen on them to avoid stains and rips.
- Double check that you have all of the required equipment that you need once the vehicle is unloaded.

TEAM WORK TIP → USE CAUTION

Spend some time training your team on the rules and cooperation needed for backing up trucks into loading docks. Always use extreme caution when loading and unloading vehicles.

Vehicle Parking Onsite

Once the vehicle has been completely unloaded, make sure you or the Lead Event Chef driver has relocated it to an appropriate location. You should have already communicated with the client or venue representative about any particular parking arrangements for the event vehicle.

Equipment Management

Safety

- If a spill or breakage occurs, please secure the site and pick up the debris immediately. It is everyone's responsibility to help keep the work environment clean and safe for our teammates, clients, and guests.
- Accidents happen. If damage occurs, immediately notify the venue contact representative or client. Record the issue on your Event Supervisor Report and communicate with the SEP, Service Manager, or MOD if the situation requires immediate attention.

Equipment Handling

- If you or your team members notice something is chipped, cracked, broken, mismatched, or by any means unsatisfactory, remove it from service immediately. Record the issue on your Event Supervisor Report.
- Instruct team members to test electrical equipment like heat lamps, large convection ovens, and turbo ovens as soon as possible to ensure that they are in working order. Look for available and working electrical outlets near your kitchen set up and any buffets or action stations that require heat lamps.
- During set up, be mindful to keep equipment out of aisle ways, ensuring easy access for everyone involved in set up.

Damaged, Malfunctioning, and Broken Equipment

- Red Tape and red tags are available in every event vehicle and must be used to mark damaged or broken equipment before loading post-event.
- Report any equipment issues on your Event Supervisor Report along with the with clear information that identifies the operational issue or damage.
- If the damage occurred onsite, please document in your Event Supervisor Report how and why the damage occurred.

Missing Equipment Or Food Items

- Double check with responsible team members that all necessary equipment is onsite and in the correct quantities to complete assigned set up tasks. This includes food, appropriate garnish, and cooking equipment.
- Relay any needs for equipment to the MOD/Logistics or Warehouse Manager as soon as possible in order to ensure that the required items can be delivered in the necessary time frame. For example, if you are missing your tall cocktail table bases and those are supposed to be set and ready for cocktail hour at 4PM, making the call at 3PM may not allow the warehouse enough time to secure and deliver them and for your team to set them into place before the event begins!

When To Improvise Or Make It Work!

- This is the last resort!
- Contact the MOD or an Operations Manager to make the call for a run or substitution. Your leaders will help you make a decision on the best solution you can create.
- Assign and delegate staff members' jobs or stations. Hold a brief meeting to discuss these jobs as needed.

Delegating And Managing Set Up Assignments

- Always create a sample setting and table set up for your staff to reference.
- Monitor event teams throughout set up of table settings, buffets/stations, bars, and back of house assignments.
- Provide coaching and 1:1 direction side by side with team members as needed. Newer team members may require a more experienced set up partner to work side by side with them to provide additional on the job training or support.
- Evaluate completion of set up against time remaining. Communicate time checks to team members during set up at the 1.5 hour, 1 hour and 30 minute mark before the event begins.
- Conduct a final walk through of the all food and beverage stations, the bar and/or all table setups are to the client's specifications and Puff 'n Stuff Catering standards 15 minutes before service begins.
- Instruct your staff to be dressed and ready 30 to 45 minutes prior to the event start time.
- All team members must be in complete uniform for pre-shift meeting and uniform line up.
- Release staff to get changed within the last hour of set up as they complete their final set up tasks. If team members are performing final set up duties during a cocktail hour that is not being held in the same space as the main event (such as filling and placing pre-set waters and other beverages), you can permit those select team members to remain in set up attire so that they do not soil their service uniform.
- It is important that you as the Event Supervisor also set the example by dressing in your full service uniform for the pre-shift meeting.

Managing Bar Set Up

- Conduct a brief meeting with your bartenders to review client, guest count, event timeline, bar service, and any specialty drinks (with recipes or specific garnish instructions).
- Communicate the set and ready time for bars to be completely set up and in full uniform. This is especially true for any wedding where a ceremony is taking place on site at the same location as the reception. Bartenders must be fully dressed before guest arrivals and will complete final set up in uniform.
- Inventory alcohol product and ensure all correct product and quantities have been sent. Only after you (or a lead bartender when on staff) have inventoried the alcohol, should you distribute it to the bars.
- Communicate with Warehouse MOD to address any missing alcohol or mixer product as soon as possible in order to allow for a window of time to produce and deliver the additional items to site.
- Identify a safe and secure location in the back of house where your back up alcohol can be organized and stored during the event. Sometimes, this may mean storing it on the event vehicle if it is within a reasonable distance.

Managing Culinary Set Up

Communicate with the Lead Event Chef at the 1.5 hour, 1 hour and 30 minute mark before the event begins to ensure that set up and prep are on schedule. Assign service team support to the kitchen if necessary. Example: Help to plate salads or desserts

- Consult with the Lead Event Chef and review timeline, any special food needs and ensure that safe food handling procedures are being followed at all times. Check with them to see how the food is doing and if the kitchen is on time.

Pre-shift Meeting

- Estimate approximately 15 minutes to cover all necessary topics of discussion for your pre-shift meeting.
- When possible, please include your bar and culinary staff in the formal pre-shift meeting so that all team members are receiving the same information about the event.
- Provide a copy of the SEO and floor plan (if available) for staff to reference during the meeting.
- Review the Steps of Service (SOS) for the event:
 - ⇒ Event Type, Client, And Guest Count
 - ⇒ Event Timeline And Service Style
 - ⇒ Menu Items (to include special meals)
 - ⇒ Team Member Responsibilities For Service
 - ⇒ Bar Service Details
 - ⇒ Proper Serving Techniques And Training Topics As Needed
- Perform uniform line up and inspect team member uniforms and grooming.

Refer to SOP if team member(s) do not meet grooming standards, are missing or have provided uniform items that do not meet expectation.
- Release staff to walk their sections and complete a final check of all table and station set ups.
- Staff should be ready and standing quietly at attention at their stations 15 minutes prior to the event start time.

Event Execution

Client Communication

If not previously done during set up, identify client or event POC and introduce yourself as the PnS Event Supervisor. Check in with the client 15 minutes prior to event end time and discuss extension options as needed. Communicate any extension information in the Event Supervisor Report.

Timeline Updates

- Communicate with the client throughout the duration of the event. Offer assistance with additional tasks as needed.
- Remain in constant contact with your client or POC should any service or food delays occur or to address any other timeline issues that may arise (Example: wedding ceremony began late, should cocktail hour remain on schedule or be shortened?)

Extensions

- Clients have the option to extend the end time of their event should they decide that the event is going so well they don't want it to end.
- You must have the client acknowledge and authorize the extension charge at a rate of $30 per service personnel per hour and communicate this to the SEP.
- Document any extensions to the SEP via phone or email and on the Event Supervisor Report.

Walk the event space throughout the event and monitor station product, buffet lines, table maintenance and bussing levels in each section, and overall team member performance. Provide coaching and 1:1 direction side by side with team members as needed.

Release assigned service team members to begin BOH clean up, breakdown station consolidation, and organization during the last hour of service or as time permits.

Follow the steps of service event execution for specific event type—buffet, CAAS, or plated meal service. Lead your teams to expedite service quietly, efficiently, timely, neatly and professionally.

Butler Passed Hors D'oeuvres

Review the SEO for timeline details. Guest count, pace of the event and length of time allocated for tray pass service will determine how many servers to assign to pass and bus. Some events will have an ebb and flow of guests over an extended period of time, allowing food to be served in waves. Conversely, other events will have a short window of time for all guests to receive passed HOD. We strive to serve the absolute very best product possible to our clients and guests at all times throughout the event so it is crucial that our product is fresh, served at the proper temperature, and beautifully presented on the tray pass platters!

Before Service Begins

- Ensure that the Event Chef executing butler pass has reviewed the menu items with the service staff, prepared samples for them to see and explained the proper pronunciation of them. Be sure to answer any questions they may have before butler service begins, including allergy and dietary restriction information.
- Look (and taste if needed!) at the food items before any are served. Taste each item for freshness, quality, and temperature. Hot items should be served HOT and cold items served COLD!
- Assign a team member to locate and pull cocktail napkins and cocktail trays with black linen napkins for passing and bussing.
- Assess the space where passed HOD will be served before and during that portion of the event. If there are multiple entry points into the event space, plan to utilize them if it makes sense. This will allow the HOD to be dispersed throughout the crowd and ensure that all guests are receiving the opportunity to try those food items.

Passing

Assign 1 server for every (50) guests (approximately). The number of servers tasked with passing HOD may vary based on the number of staff available, number of menu items being served, and pace of the passing period.

Bussing

- Assign 1 busser for every (100) guests (approximately). The number of servers tasked with bussing may vary based on the number of staff available, number of items being served in various vessels, plastic ware or service ware, and glassware being served during passed HOD.
- Use the buddy system for HOD items that are served in a vessel or on a mini plate.

TEAMWORK TIP → THE BUDDY SYSTEM

Pair team members to pass and clear specific butler pass items together as a team. Any items that are served on a skewer, tasting spoon, mini plate, in a glass vessel, with a pick or pipette should be passed by (1) server while another follows immediately behind to bus the dirty service ware on a linen napkin-lined cocktail

Buffet or CAAS Service

Releasing Tables

Identify which tables are your VIPs! These tables may be noted on your floor plan. If they are not already marked or the client has chosen an open seating plan, review the seating arrangements once guests have sat to determine where your important guests or clients are located.

Also referred to as "tapping tables." Pay close attention to the pace at which your food runners are replenishing items to the station(s). Pause before you release your next set of tables to the buffet if an item is depleted, quickly depleting, or is currently being restocked.

Assign food runners to buffets or stations so that you can focus on releasing tables in a timely manner, managing the flow of guests through the station(s), and directing team members to replenish the station(s) as needed.

Buffet

- Release first wave of tables to the buffet two at a time.
- For groups of approximately 50-100, aim to release 2 tables at a time and direct guests to enter on each side of the double-sided buffet.
- For groups of 100+ guests, aim to release 2-4 tables at a time and direct guests to enter on each side of the double-sided buffet.
- If more than 1 buffet is set (large guest counts), direct guests to the buffet closest to their table.

CAAS

- Release first wave of tables to the stations two at a time.
- For groups of approximately 50-100, aim to release 2 tables at a time and direct guests to enter on each side of the double-sided buffet.
- For groups of 100+ guests, aim to release 2-4 tables at a time and direct guests to enter on each side of the double-sided buffet.

- ⇒ Direct guests to different station locations and communicate the various menu offerings at each. As you continue to release tables, monitor the lines at each station before moving on to remaining tables.
- ⇒ Encourage guests to enjoy each station at a time rather than go from station to station. This will help you to reduce lines at stations.

Plated Meal Service

Remain in constant communication with the Lead Culinary on the guest count, timing of food service/ expo execution, and how many tables have been served and still need to be served.

Direct staff to wash their hands in between serving courses. At minimum, sanitation wipes should be available at the breakdown and expo stations.

Determine special requests process with Lead Event Chef.

For plated meal service, perform final head count when guests are seated for the 1st course. Communicate any guest count changes to your Lead.

Vendor Meals

- If the client has purchased meals for the vendors working their event, these will be communicated on the SEO.
- When the guests eat, vendors eat! Typically, the meal period is the only available down time that your fellow vendors are able to take a short break and enjoy their food. Unless a different time has been specified by the SEP, SEO, onsite contact, or event coordinator, always assign a service team member or available culinary to serve the vendor meals at the start of dinner service.
- Hot vendor meals should always be packaged in a clear hinged to-go container, or on a plate and served with a set of flatware rolled in a linen napkin.
- Identify a behind the scenes or out of the way location for vendors to dine.

Managing Culinary Expo

- Address any timeline interruptions as needed with your Lead Event Chef and culinary team.
- Identify how and from where the culinary will be expediting food for service. This is especially important for plated meal service.

- Instruct Lead Event Chef to begin kitchen consolidation and breakdown after meal service has concluded as long as it remains out of guest view.

Managing Bar Service

As time permits, walk the bars throughout the event to monitor for additional product needs, proper pouring, adherence to shot policies, and growing lines at bars.

Lines At Bars

- Direct and encourage guests to other bars where there is a shorter wait should long lines occur.
- It may be necessary to provide service support to assist a bartender if he/she is working a bar alone.
- If possible, assign servers to butler pass wine and/or beer to help reduce lines.

Tip Jars

- It is against company policy for tip jars of any kind to be placed on or around any bar at a Puff 'n Stuff Catering event. There is to be absolutely no soliciting of tips, under any circumstances.
- If a guest offers gratuity at the bar, politely decline the offer. If the guest insists again, politely accept the tip and store in a clear glass out of sight from the guests. If the glass is visible from the guest's view point, it's too visible. It must be fully tucked underneath the bar top.
- Remove any visible tip jars immediately from a bar that attempts to bait guests. This is considered grounds for disciplinary action and must be addressed in the Event Supervisor Report and/or direct communication with the Service Manager.

Bar Consolidation

- Instruct designated bartender(s) to begin gradual bar consolidation based on pace and demand for bar service. Your staff should only take glasses back on small cocktail trays in small waves. DO NOT permit staff to bring out glass racks front of house when the event is still happening. No other product should be removed from the bar before the event has ended.
- Instruct bartenders to close bars on signal. Bars should not be closed at any point in time before event concludes without explicit permission from the Event Supervisor.

Managing Event Breakdown

The plan for and management of the event breakdown process is just as vital and important as the plan for service. A well-organized breakdown begins the very moment the shift begins. While loading into the event space, think about how you are going to load out! Can you load out continuously throughout the event or must you wait until the event is over to begin?

Full front of house breakdown should never begin until the guests have left the event space or the client has authorized us to start clean up. Once the guests have departed, your team will be able to begin the full strike and load out.

Front Of House Breakdown

- Extinguish sterno flame on chafers and coffee urns approximately 15 minutes before event end time to allow for the equipment to cool down. Remove remaining food items from buffet and return to kitchen team to box up what can be saved for client.
- Assign breakdown and cleaning tasks to staff members and work directly with your Lead Event Chef to oversee that all breakdown assignments remain on schedule.

Kitchen Breakdown

Left Over Food

- Any leftover food that has been held at proper temperature should be packaged in clear hinged to go containers and loaded into Puff 'n Stuff logo tote bags for the client to take with them. Do not offer or give away any remaining food to guests, vendors, or venue representatives without explicit authorization from the client. The client has purchased and paid for every single item that was produced. It must be their choice to do so.
- Leftovers should always be packaged back of house-never from the buffet while the event is still going on.

Bar Breakdown

Monitor breakdown of the bar(s) and bar product and inventory process while overseeing the rest of the event breakdown. Glass racks and carts for alcohol and mixers should never be brought front of house until the guests have departed or you have signaled that it is ok to do so.

Incoming Alcohol Inventory

- All alcohol product (both client and PnS provided) must be inventoried again and recorded on the Alcohol Inventory Sheet (AIS). This process should be completed by you or the Lead Bartender (if one is staffed on your event).
- Sign off on the completed AIS. The AIS will be dropped with the vehicle keys and Roll Call Report.

Cash Bar Close Out

- Supervisor and bartender/cashier are to review and verify credit card sales reports on the square app at the end of the shift.
- If there are any voids or money issues, both the Supervisor and the bartender/cashier must sign off on the discrepancy. Please provide an explanation in your Event Supervisor Report for any variances.

Venue Clean Up

- Assign team members to check under tables and throughout the venue for garbage or remaining service ware.
- Delegate final cleaning tasks to ensure that the venue or residence is left just as clean if not cleaner than when your team arrived! Cleaning tasks can include any of the following:

SAFETY TIP → SPEED RACK SAFETY

Do not over stack porcelain platters, bowls, or other breakable vessels on top of each other. If packed incorrectly, these fragile items can be broken during transport with just one single bump in the road!

Speed Racks

1. Speed racks ensure an efficient production process from start to finish. Filled with sheet trays, these vehicles can then easily be moved throughout the facility.
2. Filled with sheet trays, these are the vehicles that will move food around our facility. Store like with like, clean with clean, and dirty with dirty.
3. Dispose of all leftover food products from chafer inserts, dump all sauces from containers and bowls, and clean off platters from any remaining food debris into the trash before loading onto speed racks.
4. Speed racks should be organized as follows:
 - Sheet pans dirty/unused
 - Plastic items, all
 - Hotel pan/chafing insert/utensils
 - Pots and pans / culinary utensils
5. Speed racks with reusable food product to be returned to the Puff 'n Stuff Catering commissary are to be loaded last onto the vehicle.
6. Never mix clean, reusable food, or product with dirty product or equipment.

Dirty speed
rack with hotel
pan

- This includes left over wedding cake. Never dispose of left over wedding cake without explicitly clear instruction from the Bride and Groom, onsite contact, or wedding coordinator.
- Always offer and assign assistance to transport leftover items to the appropriate individuals' vehicle and load for them.

Course By Course Clean Up

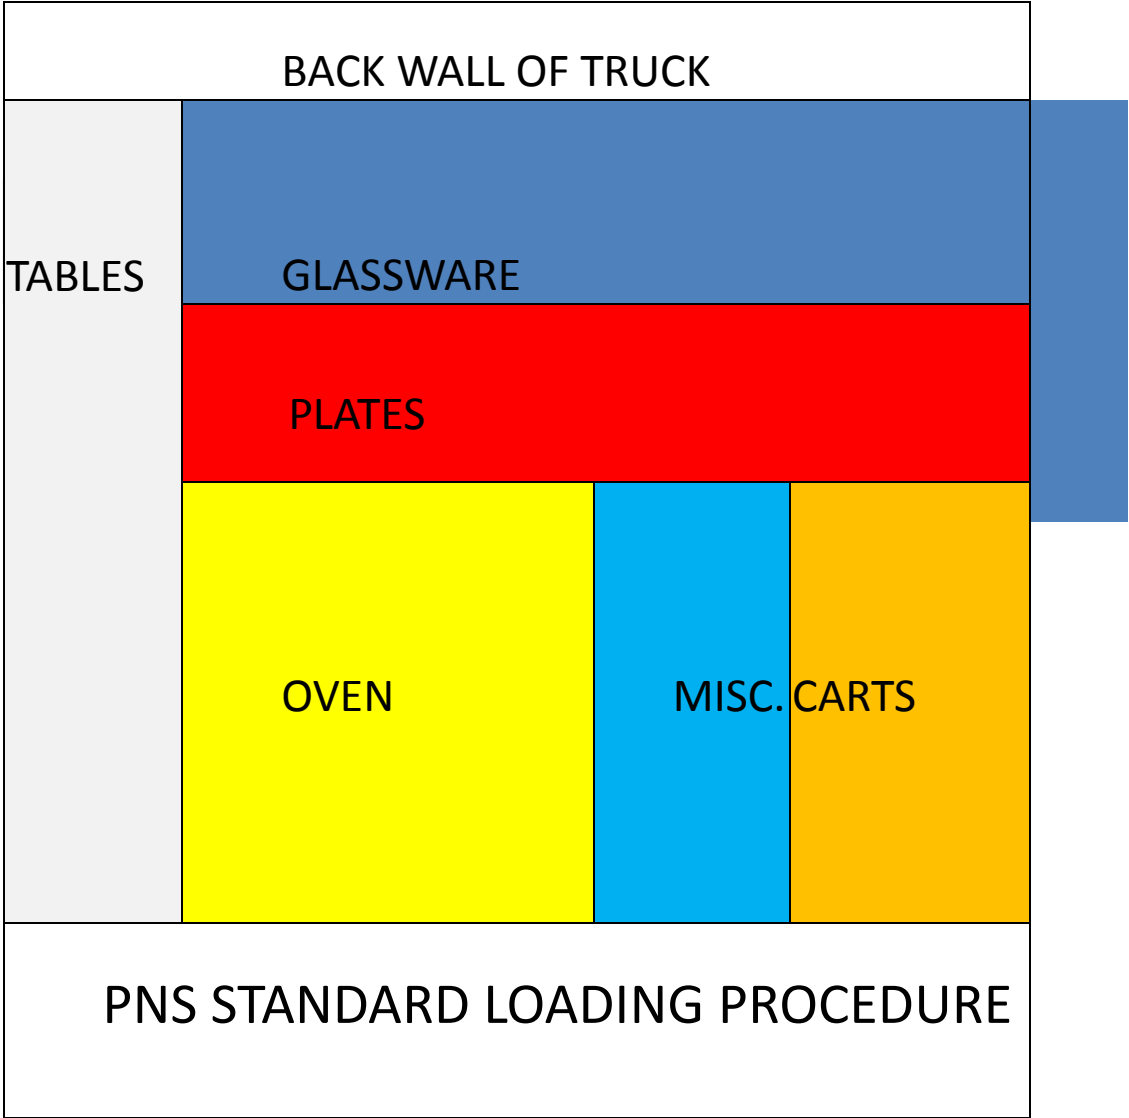

- Ensure that your Lead Event Chef and culinary team has packed up unused items, discarded food waste, and stacked/racked pans and containers throughout the event.
- Work tables should be cleared, wiped down, and reset for the next course.
 - ⇒ Sweeping of all service and guest reception areas
 - ⇒ Mopping of kitchen and back of house space
 - ⇒ Vacuuming carpets
 - ⇒ Wipedown of all work area surfaces
 - ⇒ Clean client's used dishes or pots
- Refer to venue specific requirements listed on the Road Report or posted signage in the catering kitchen.
- Determine if trash can be discarded onsite or if it must be reloaded for disposal at PnS. No trash should be left onsite at the facility for the venue to clean up.
- For event locations with a venue or facility manager on duty, request to check out. Complete sign in/out documentation as needed by facility.

Vehicle/Truck Reload

- Work directly with the Lead Event Chef in order to manage the back of house breakdown and vehicle repacking.
- Evaluate the condition of the reload and address any necessary adjustments to the pack to ensure safe transport of all equipment and reusable food back to the commissary.

Note: Load chilled food last on truck for easy removal at the commissary.

- Repack the vehicle neatly (all like items in like areas, all unused chilled food gathered to a rack or cooler to be returned stored properly, all like dirty pans combined).

- Verify that all items are packed in a secure manner and are organized by categories. I.E. food product, waste, pans and heavy ware washing, glass platters and fragile items.
- Lead vehicle reload with designated team members. The Lead Event Chef should take the lead on re-packing
- Cover or wrap containers of extra sauces and liquids need in order to prevent spilling.
- Determine if trash must be returned to the commissary. If so, ensure that all trash bags are double lined and tied together.
- Sort and store dirty linens in the appropriate linen bags (I.E. wet linens sorted into separate bags)
- Repack fragile items like risers, decanters, wooden bookshelves, etc. tightly in bubble wrap or pads as delivered.
- Make sure you RED TAPE or RED TAG all broken, cracked, chips, unusable, or malfunctioning equipment or tools for immediate repair and recirculation.
- Check to make sure that all carts, speed racks, and loose items that could move or break in transit are strapped down securely.

Completing A Final Walk Through

- Verify that all PnS provided equipment has been removed from the event space and loaded on the vehicle.
- Complete a thorough and detailed site inspection during your final walk through in order to make sure that all items have been picked up and packed up.
- Inspect any onsite kitchen equipment and refrigerators for cleanliness and removal of all food or beverage product.

Saying Goodbye To Your Client

Final Client Communication

- Before your team or your client departs from the event site, offer final help with anything else they may request and inform them that the team has finished and is ready to say goodbye.
- When appropriate, allow the entire event team to be present when saying final goodbyes to the client(s).

Client Provided Personal Items

Offer assistance to client with the breakdown of any personal items (I.E. centerpieces). Assign a team member to assist them with transporting any leftover food, alcohol with completed alcohol inventory sheet, or personal items to their vehicle(s).

Client Provided Alcohol

- Client-provided alcohol or beverage product should be returned to client or end of event contact. Coordinate with client or end of event contact and identify where vehicle can be parked for loading. Always offer and provide assistance with loading the product into the client's vehicle. Delegate a team member to do this.
- Organize alcohol product back into the cases it came in. Ensure that all alcohol that was opened or chilled on ice is wiped dry and separated from unopened product.

Final Balance Payments

The Special Event Planner will inform you prior to the event should you need to collect a payment for the remaining balance of the event bill. This total may be noted under the special notes section of the SEO. If not, request the accurate final balance total from the SEP in writing. The SEO print you have will not have any payment information available.

Clocking Out Staff

Team members are never allowed to sign themselves out from the shift and go home without the Event Supervisor's authorization. Alert your team that it is time to clock out when the breakdown is finally complete and the truck is completely and correctly loaded to return back to PnS.

Making Staff Cuts

- If the full team is not needed to complete the remainder of the event or breakdown, staff cuts can be made as time and demand of event work load permits.
- Adhere to each individual team member's end time on the Roll Call Report and release those team members according to the sheet.
- Staff cuts should only be made at your discretion and on events where it is appropriate and their absence will not affect the completion of the event. For example, releasing any team members early from an intimate dinner party at a private residence would be noticeable to the client and guests. Their absence will be noticeable from service. You will also most likely need everyone's assistance at the end of the event for breakdown! Alternatively, a large gala function winding down when the guest seating tables have already been cleared provides an ideal opportunity to reduce the size of your team!

- Communicate with the Lead Event Chef to determine if culinary cuts can be made once food service has ended and back of house or kitchen organization is tight.
- Any shortened end times for staff on the Roll Call Report should be followed and the staff released as close to their specific end time as possible. These reduced shift times are typically dictated by the Special Event Planner who has planned this with the client.

Post Shift Meetings And Clock Out Procedures

- Allow staff to sign out once the event vehicle has been loaded, the final walk through has been completed, and you have completed a post-shift meeting.
- A post-shift meeting should be conducted to communicate with your entire team about overall performance, client and guest feedback, and any successes or challenges during the shift.
- When your team clocks out, make sure that they are ready to depart and have collected their belongings from inside the event location.
- Clock out times should be accurate, to the minute, and not rounded down or up to whole numbers (I.E. 10:30PM instead of 10:28PM)..
- Your responsibility as the Event Supervisor is to ensure that everyone on your team has recorded their in and out times in the Nowsta app accurately. If someone has missed a punch, you must communicate with them to get their actual in or out time and edit the punch in Nowsta before you are done with your shift responsibilities.

Weddings

Very few of life's celebrations are more important than someone's wedding. For in one, beautiful day, our bride and groom get to make memories that last a lifetime. It's our job and our passion, to see to it that stress isn't one of those memories. Remember these guidelines for seamless wedding execution:

Cocktail Hour

The cocktail hour space must always be set and ready 15 minutes early! Weddings often do not last the full length of the ceremony time frame. You will typically receive early arriving wedding guests at the venue, especially if the ceremony location is onsite or within close proximity to the reception venue!

- Any PnS team members participating in cocktail hour service must also be set, dressed in complete service uniform, and ready 15 minutes before the event begins. If ceremony or reception space is visible to guests as they arrive for ceremony, have all FOH team members in full uniform.
- Identify if the bride and groom and bridal party will be onsite and/or participating in cocktail hour activities. If they will be onsite for photos, assign a server to offer beverages and HOD.
- If the bride and groom and bridal party are not onsite for cocktail hour or do not wish to enjoy HOD at that time, reserve at least 2 pieces of each item per person to be served with the meal service. Place a platter of HOD on the sweetheart or head table when dinner service begins.
- Communicate with your Lead Event Chef and/or the road chef executing the butler passed HOD to reserve enough pieces for all members of the bridal party and Bride and Groom. If you are unsure how many members are in the bridal party, refer to the SEO, SEP, and/or Wedding Planner (if one exists).

Meal Service

Bride and Groom

- Unless directed by SEP/SEO, client, or wedding coordinator, always serve bride and groom directly at their table.
- After bride and groom's plates have been presented to them, take a brief moment to congratulate them and introduce yourself as the Event Supervisor. Introduce their dedicated server, and allow the server to offer beverages at the start of the meal.
- For buffet service, create a plate for each of them with a variety of each of the buffet items. Reserve any floral or fresh herb garnish from the cocktail hour to add a special presentation to the plate!
- For chef-attended station service, create mini plates of each of the station items for both bride and groom. Offer to let bride and groom enjoy each station at their own pace and instruct server to pace each course as the couple would like.
- When possible, assign a dedicated server to take care of bride and groom throughout the event. For an intimate wedding, this may be an opportunity for you to directly serve your couple, as your focus on service and dedicated attention to their needs is easily manageable!

Releasing Tables

- Identify which tables are your VIPs! Immediate family and bridal party tables may be noted on your floor plan. If they are not already marked or the couple has chosen an open seating plan, take a moment to scope out mom, dad, grandma, and the maid of honor when the bridal party introductions and toasts begin!
- After B&G have been served, release these important tables to the buffet / station(s) first.

Cake Service

- Always set the cake table with a cake knife and server set, cake plate, 2 dessert forks, and folded linen napkin.
- Note: You will need to identify during set up if the client has provided their own cake knife and server or if you will need to supply a Puff 'n Stuff cake knife and server.
- If there is a Groom's cake, an additional plate, set of forks, and napkin may be needed. Always check with the SEO, SEP, wedding coordinator, or client to identify how the groom's cake will be served. Will it be offered with the wedding cake to the table? Will it be stationed at a table or dessert display? Will it be saved and taken home with the bride and groom?

- After bride and groom have completed the cake cutting ceremony, communicate with photography and videography vendors to ensure that all photos and videos have been captured before removing the cake from the cake table and transfer BOH.
- Carefully remove the cake from the cake stand and transfer to the kitchen for cutting. Use caution and request assistance from another team member or road chef if the cake is multiple tiers or appears to be heavy (as most wedding cakes are!).
- *Note: It is always wise to have someone walk in front of you to clear a pathway and open doors for you during transport.
- The Lead Event Chef or a designated road chef(s) will cut the cake into the appropriate size to make sure there are enough pieces for everyone at the event.
- NEVER CUT THE TOP TIER WITHOUT EXPLICIT PERMISSION PER THE SEO, SEP, WEDDING PLANNER, OR CLIENT. The top tier of the wedding cake is typically reserved for B&G's first anniversary.
- If there are multiple cake flavors, servers must present the different flavors of cake on their tray and allow the guest to select their choice. Additional cake slices of each flavor should be placed on the cake table.
- Serve bride and groom a small platter with a selection of each cake flavor (if multiple) and garnish.
- A cake slice should be placed at every guest's seat, regardless of whether the guest is currently seated at the table. If multiple flavors are available, alternate flavors at each place setting.
- Cake should never be cleared from a guest's place setting, unless it is explicitly clear that the guest has finished their plate. Cake should remain on the table until conclusion of event.
- After the event, any left over cake that was not served should be boxed up for the client to take with them.
- The cake baker may provide a small box for the top tier of the wedding cake to be stored (this is usually placed underneath the cake table). After removing it from the cake, place inside the box and set box inside a PnS logo tote bag for end of event transport. If no cake box is available, please wrap cake tier in saran wrap.
- Any cake toppers, cake cutting set, brooches, or cake jewelry that was used for decoration should be safely returned with the leftover cake.

END OF EVENT RESPONSIBILITIES

The Puff 'n Stuff Care Package

- Always pack a care package for bride and groom that includes:
 - ⇒ (1) Box cocktail hour and/or late night HOD
 - ⇒ (2) Individual boxes of the entree and accompaniments
 - ⇒ Note: If menu has more than 1 entree selection, pack a small selection of the entrees so that Bride and Groom may enjoy each of the menu items they chose for their guests.
 - ⇒ (1) Dessert box that includes a slice of each cake flavor and any additional desserts (if provided). For major bonus points, garnish cake box with fresh floral from the cake if there is any!
 - ⇒ (2) Puff 'n Stuff logo bottled waters
- Coordinate with the designated contact to arrange for the care package to be placed in the bride and groom's mode of transportation before their departure.

Client Provided Items and Belongings

- Client provided items should be repackaged in the containers they came in.
- The cake knife and server and toasting flutes must be washed off, dried, and repackaged before returning to the client.
- Always offer assistance to transport leftover items to the appropriate individuals' vehicle and load for them.

Items to go home with end of event contact

- Cake topper
- Leftover cake and food
- Cake knife and server (if client-provided)
- Toasting flutes (if client-provided)
- Alcohol (if client-provided)

Saying Farewell

- After the final song has been played, allow bride and groom to have a few moments to say their goodbyes to family and friends before approaching them to say farewell.
- Congratulate bride and groom again, thank them for choosing Puff 'n Stuff Catering to be a part of their celebration.
- If any loose ends must be tied up about who will be taking leftovers or personal items, communicate with end of event contact at this point.
- Always offer assistance to family members with packing and loading any other belongings before returning to your crew and beginning the event breakdown. Delegate a team member to this task so that you can continue to oversee breakdown.

EFFICIENCY TIP → NOTES FOR LATER

In order to capture the most complete and comprehensive information about an event's successes and challenges in your Event Supervisor Report, make notes on your tablet as things occur throughout the shift. Whether it's an incredible compliment the Mother of the Bride provides about the team's seamless service or an unexpected request from the client to provide additional seating for unexpected guests, no event detail is unimportant!

Post Event Responsibilities

Congratulations! You've executed a successful event and fiercely lead your team to "Passionately Perfect Life's Celebrations" for a very special client and their guests. Before you can confidently consider your event to be complete, you have a few remaining responsibilities to wrap up.

Returning To The Commissary

Vehicle Parking

1. Turn off the lights (inside or out) and remove personal items and trash in your vehicle before exiting the vehicle.
2. Remove keys from the ignition and lock all doors.
3. Return keys to the warehouse drop box.
4. Proper parking is essential, so that other vehicles coming back after you have an area to park.
5. Sprinters and vans can be backed into the covered pavilion or in the reserved parking spaces.
6. Trucks can be backed in to the loading bays. If the bays are full, trucks can also be parked on the curbs within the parking lot. Do not line them up on the road.
7. If you see something suspicious, or persons unknown to you, loitering or acting suspiciously, do not engage with them and call MOD or 911 for immediate assistance.

GLOSSARY TERM → NEVER TRAVEL ALONE

When possible, always travel to and from an event with your Lead Event Chef in the van, sprinter, or truck. We work very early mornings and very late nights and safety during travel and final commissary responsibilities like returning food to the walk in coolers should never be done alone.

Returning Food

If you have perishable food to return to PnS at the end of the event, it must be kept within proper temperature zones during the event and until it returns to the commissary during transit. Ensure that your Lead Event Chef has completed a culinary report to log all the food being returned. Only store clean, reusable food onto the speed racks that you are returning to the commissary. Never return dirty kitchen tools, service ware, and cooking equipment on these food trams.

Cooling: Cool foods from 140 degrees to 70 degrees within 2 hours; and from 70 degrees to 41 degrees within 4 hours.

Corrective Action: Reheat to 165 degrees within 2 hours and serve or reheat to 165 degrees and repeat chill process (one time only) or discard the product.

Accessing The Walk-In Cooler (Orlando)

- A key to access the walk-in cooler is attached to each set of vehicle keys.
- Unlock the padlock from the metal bar that is locked across the outside walk-in cooler door.
- Roll in any speed racks or individual items into the cooler.
- Once inside the cooler, do not open the doors to the kitchen, it will set off the alarm.

Accessing The Walk-In Cooler (Tampa)

- Do not back in any vehicle into a dock. Please keep these docks open for our deliveries that happen frequently in the early morning hours before warehouse staff are available to move vehicles out of the way.
- Use your key fob (located on all vehicle key chains) to disarm the alarm

Paperwork Drop

- When you return to warehouse at end of night, vehicle keys and paperwork (Roll Call Reports and Alcohol Inventory Sheets) must be dropped in drop box area before you leave property.
- Any pertinent information (Ex. I locked the keys in the vehicle, mechanical problem with the vehicle that needs immediate attention) can be written down and placed in drop box on the door or emailed to the Logistics or Warehouse Manager within 24 hours for immediate attention.

Event Supervisor Report and Lead Culinary Report

Along with leadership comes responsibility and one of these key responsibilities is reporting. The Event Supervisor Report is a very important management tool to facilitate consistency, structure and accountability. Puff 'n Stuff Catering truly wants to support and assist our Service Team to execute exceptional events as seamlessly as possible! With your insight and feedback, we will continue to refine and shape our operation to eliminate stress in the work place.

- Notify your management team and the Special Event Planner of any issue that occurred during your event. No matter how big or small the problem, it's your responsibility as the onsite Event Supervisor to ALWAYS notify the Leadership Team of any potential concerns. Speak directly with your Manager to assist you in taking care of the problem. The SEP and your Service Managers may need to follow up with the client, guest, or staff.
- All full-service events require an Event Supervisor Report and a Lead Culinary Report to be completed and submitted within 24 hours of the shift's completion. Reports can be completed from your smart phone or a desk top computer.
- If you are the Supervisor-Culinary, you may complete your default report and include details about both the FOH and BOH experience.

Client Payment

All ancillary event documentation or payment must be delivered to the Puff 'n Stuff Catering office the next business day following your event. Any exception must be communicated directly to your Manager with advance notice so that we may notify the appropriate departments. Never return these documents or payments in the key drop box.

Client Balance Payments

- Any final balance payment (in the form of checks or cash) or gratuity (checks made out to PnS only should be turned in) should be delivered directly to the Special Event Planner when possible.
- If not delivered to SEP, you should deliver a balance or gratuity payment directly to the Finance Department/ Front Office (Tampa). Make sure to identify which event (client name and Special Event Order number) it is from. The personal information on the check may not always be easily matched to an event in our system.
- In the small possibility a balance is due on the event, the SEP will have furnished an invoice, which will be packed along with your paperwork.
- Please do not place any client payments in the drop box, even during regular business hours. If your shift concludes after regular business hours, please see your Service Managers for the proper procedure.

How to Create A Martini Tie

Step 1: Gather Equipment Needed

Refer to SEO for specific linen colors and table locations

- A. Table base or “feet”
- B. Tall pole
- C. 36” Round table top
- D. (1) 132” Round linen
- E. (1) Sash

Step 2: Set Up the Tall Cocktail Table

1. Determine specific location for table.
2. Locate cocktail table base, pole, and table top.
3. Set table base on stable ground.
4. Set pole in center of table base.
5. Pick table top up and set firmly on table pole/base.
6. Check table to ensure that table base is firmly in place.

Step 3: Set Up Linen and Sash

1. Drape 132” Round linen over table top.
2. The length of the linen should be even on all sides and touching the floor. Vertical and horizontal creases should cross directly in the center of the table.
3. With the linen in place correctly, pull the linen up and away from you so that the center crease is now at the top of the table.
4. The linen should be pooled on the floor on the side farthest away from you and short on the side closest to you.
5. Wrap the sash around the tall cocktail table approximately 1/3 of the way from the top.
6. Pull the sash so that it is long on one side and short on the other. Tie a tight single knot.
7. Wrap the length of the sash tightly around the table, moving down the length of the pole until the sash is completely wrapped around the pole.

Chairs

Puff'n Stuff Catering owns and stores a large variety of chairs in-house in a vast range of shapes, sizes, and heights! Each chair has a specific purpose. For example, a padded folding chair would be ideal for an outdoor event, rather than a banquet chair.

Chairs should always be set symmetrically for even numbered guest counts and in the windows for odd numbered chairs. Never push or tuck chairs into the linen. The edge of the chair should just barely touch the linen!

EFFICIENCY TIP → COMPARE AND CONTRACT

Always compare the floor plan to the rentals section of the Special Event Order to determine the actual number of chairs per table before you set. Some tables may differ.
